Historic Sanger Trophy Has New Home

Bisons who graduated between the years of 1929 and 1954 may remember the Sanger trophy. Presented to the Dallas ISD by Sanger Brothers Department Store in 1929, every year the trophy went to the high school that accumulated the most points from various athletic competitions. The name of the winning school and the year were engraved on the trophy.

At the time the competition began, there were six high schools in Dallas: Adamson, Crozier Tech, Forest Avenue, North Dallas, Sunset, and Woodrow Wilson. Sunset was the last school to have its name engraved on the trophy in 1954, although stories from that time indicate that it won the trophy again in 1955 and 1956.

The trophy was stored at Sunset for many years. Then when a school renovation was completed in the late 70's or early 80's, a teacher decided that the trophy wasn't appropriate for display in the new trophy cases, and it and many other items of memorabilia were discarded. Fortunately another teacher, alumna Martha McSweeney, rescued several of these items.

In 1999 Don Martin, a '52 grad and member of Sunset's 1950 State Championship football team, joined with other alumni in searching for old football trophies in preparation for a reunion. It was discovered that the Sanger Trophy was one of those rescued from the trash, but by then it was missing both its wooden base and its cap and its silver plating was nearly gone. As Martin told a Dallas Morning News reporter, "I cried, but really, I got mad. To think they would take something that beautiful and big and almost ruin it...I still can't understand it."

McSweeney provided the missing cap which she had rescued from the trash. Martin began an internet fundraising campaign to restore the trophy, and raised the necessary $2,100 required to bring it back to its glory.

"I cried, but really, I got mad. To think they would take something that beautiful and big and almost ruin it...I still can't understand it."

In a public ceremony on August 24, officials of the Old Red Museum of Dallas County History and Culture accepted the Sanger Trophy as a gift from representatives of the six high schools which competed for it. The trophy will go on display next spring in a temporary exhibit celebrating the opening of the county museum in "Old Red," the former courthouse on the edge of downtown.

Bisons in the News

Joe Boring, quarterback for the 1950 State Championship Sunset football team, was inducted into the Texas A&M Hall of Fame in September.

Boring was football coach at Garland High School several years ago when they played for the State Championship. He has also been a coach for W. T. White High school after retiring from Garland, and a scout for the Dallas Cowboys.

John Fisher (1949) and wife Carolyn Wood Fisher (1950) were featured in a news story about the Prayer Quilt ministry which provides quilts to people who are facing some type of crisis. John & Carolyn participate through their church, Good Shepherd Episcopal in Cedar Hill.

Alumni Grants Awarded

On October 27, the Sunset Alumni Association made its annual awards to school organizations that submitted grant applications for consideration. The Association was represented by Laura Dorenbecker and Peggy van Wunnik. Checks were presented to the following organizations and departments:

Although the Association awards grants once a year, we accept donations year-round!

Many corporations offer matching grants, so your contribution to the 501(c)(3) Alumni Association might be eligible for a matching grant from your employer.

MISSING BISONS SOUGHT

Each class has a roster of "missing" Bisons who have strayed from the herd over the years. The Class of 1968 has posted its roster on the new "Missing Bisons" page on the website. If you know where any of those folks are, ask them to get in touch with their class contact person, or notify the Webmaster at brucenance@sbcglobal.net with their contact information. If you would like to post your class roster of missing folks, contact the Webmaster.

GOLF TOURNEY A HIT

The second annual Sunset Lettermen and Friends Golf Tourney was held on Oct. 21 at Buffalo Creek Golf Club in Rockwall, with proceeds going to the Sunset Foundation. The tourneys proved such a hit that they will continue, and plans are already in the works for the 2007 event.

NHS PICTURE BOARD PROJECT CONTINUES...

During school renovations some years ago, the National Honor Society picture boards that had for many years been on display on the third floor were removed and placed in storage. Over the years, some of the boards were damaged and some pictures misplaced. A restoration effort was begun to refurbish and repair the boards, and enough donations were received to restore more than 60 panels.

We are extremely grateful to Paula Roe McCown (Class of 1970) of Roe-Art Picture Framing in DeSoto, who has offered to donate the labor required for the remaining panels.

The Alumni Association has set aside $1800 towards restoration of the remaining panels, at least 10% of which show some damage. In addition, we will need to reproduce some missing student photos.

Even with Paula's generous donation of the labor, there will be expense for materials and photos. We estimate that we need to raise at least $75 per board. With some 50 panels still needing restoration, that means we need to raise nearly $4,000 to complete this project.

This is where you can help! If you would like to contribute to the NHS Picture Board restoration, any donation will be welcomed. Just note on your check "NHS Project" and mail it to the Alumni Association. And if you're driving on N. Hampton in DeSoto and happen to pass Roe-Art, stop in and say hi - and thanks - to Paula!

They will not grow old, as we who are left grow old...Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn...And at the setting of the sun, and in the morning...
We shall remember them.

Our sympathy and caring are extended to the families of these Sunset alumni.

Oak Cliff Recollection...

Allwyn Wilmoth, a January 1945 Sunset grad, shares the following recollection about a childhood experience which took place in Oak Cliff around 1939. Much in the world may change, but boys will always be boys...

The Irwindell Methodist Church near the intersection of Jefferson and Westmoreland sponsored a Boy Scout troop. You had to be twelve to join, and when my friend Charlie and I turned twelve, we were the first in the door.

W. K. White was our Scoutmaster, a nice guy and easy to get along with. I never saw him angry or dress down a kid. None of us had uniforms like the rich kids, and none of us were Eagle Scouts. Tenderfoot, Second Class, and First Class were our highest ranks. The troop consisted of about twelve active boys including Charlie and me and our friends Forest and Kenneth. Our duty was to sweep out and clean the church on Saturday. Four or five of us would show up, clean windows, bathrooms, pick up all trash in the pews, place hymnals back in the racks, and last, sweep out the oak floor with oil-sorb floor sweep. I did not mind this - it was little enough to pay for all the fun we had.

Charlie and I did not join Scouts to get religion, we wanted the camping, traveling, and adventure the Scouts offered. A wealthy man had donated approximately 150 acres five miles west of Dallas to the Scouts, and they named it Camp Wisdom in his honor. He built a large administration building which housed the Scout offices. In a large room above the offices, he placed his hunting trophies: a large stuffed black bear, several heads of deer, and some African animals. He dammed the creek and had a nice lake. He built a swimming pool, tennis and basketball courts, baseball field, and several rustic cabins situated away from the main building, so that each troop would have a private place. Charlie and I knew about it and could not wait to get out there.

The troop would camp out overnight about twice in the summer. One of the church members owned a stake-bed truck, and the troop would load up on Friday, have a steak fry on an open fire, spend Friday night, and come home Saturday evening. It was hard for Charlie and me to get away overnight because of our paper routes. So we would load our bikes on the truck, participate in the steak fry, pedal five miles back home and arrive about 1:00 a.m. to get up at 4:00 a.m. We would sleep awhile after we threw our routes, and then go clean up the church.

Friday night was meeting night for the troop. Leader White would call us to order, and we would say the Scout pledge. We'd discuss what merit badges to work on, and he would drive to Mrs. Pat's * and get us hamburgers and Cokes. We had a fun free-for-all while he was gone.

A new family moved onto Westmoreland, a block north of the church. They were from New Jersey and were Methodist. The boy wanted to be a Scout. We liked him. He was funny, but he talked all the time. Lewis was slight and skinny, wore thick-lense glasses, and probably had never been in the woods in his life, but he talked tough and wanted to go with us.

One summer Saturday, Charlie, Kenneth, Lewis, Forest and I decided to go to "our" cabin at Camp Wisdom. We loaded our paper bags with water, a Coke or two, cheese sandwiches, and a flashlight. We pedaled the five miles, which was no problem for us. When we went through the front gate, we did not see the caretaker's pickup truck and thought he was in the pasture somewhere, so we proceeded to the Troop #15 cabin. Charlie and I were going to stay until midnight or so and then ride back to throw our paper routes. Forest, Kenneth and Lewis were to stay all night.

We had several times warned Lewis to be very careful of bears, as several were nearby and were very dangerous. Kenneth was the instigator of our next action (and our downfall). He proposed that we three go to the main building, get the big bear, and scare Lewis with it. We were sure that the caretaker had gone home, and we could crawl up and get in the main building through an upstairs window. Kenneth asked Forest to stay with Lewis and to act like he was very scared of the bear also. We went to the ad building, crawled up and handed the big stuffed bear out the window. It was a pretty tough task to carry that bear all the way back to the cabin. It was very dark, and we stumbled and cursed all the way.

We placed the bear in front of the cabin door, knocked like it was us, and waited. We could hear Forest telling Lewis to open the door and let us in. Lewis opened the door with his flashlight shining right in the bear's eyes. Lewis screamed and jumped back. He bit his little finger and it was bleeding badly - how he put his finger in his mouth, I will never know. The rest of us laughed until our sides hurt. Lewis looked stunned, and finally said that he wanted to go home. We walked up the trail to where we had left our bikes and started home.

Of course the caretaker found the bear by the cabin door, and reported it to the Scout authorities. An investigation was made, we were questioned, and we admitted our guilt. The following Friday, a representative from the Dallas Scout council appeared at our meeting. He made a speech, saying that we had dishonored God, our country, the Boy Scouts, our troop, and ourselves. Our names would be removed from the roll of Boy Scouts, and all merit badges and rank would be removed and we could never again be Scouts. Mr. White, our Scoutmaster, objected and said we could apologize and pay expenses and make amends. But it was no use - we were out! Kenneth started laughing and left. Charlie and I told Mr. White we were sorry. On the way home, we said nothing.

Two weeks later, Mr. White resigned and Mr. Shackelford became Scoutmaster.

Students Today...

The Sunset Varsity Cheerleading Squad won the Cheer Power Level 5 championship and the Cheer Power New Squad Award in recent competition, and will compete at the national level in late January in Galveston.

The Cheerleaders thanked the Alumni Association for purchasing a spirit flag for use at football games: "Your donation surely helps build up spirit at all the football games. Thank you again for everything!"

Senior Jonathan M. Vines has been named a Commended Student in the 2007 National Merit Scholarship Program, passing five AP tests with a score of 5 to earn the AP designation. Jonathan is the first non-Hispanic male to pass Spanish Language with a score of 5. In addition to Jonathan, this year's AP Scholars are Noemi Beltran, Leonel Garcia, Veronica Sanchez, and Hector Zambrano. According to AP Coordinator Thomas Spring, the Class of 2007 is the first class to have three AP scholars named as Juniors.

The Academic Decathlon Teams won 2nd, 3rd, & 4th places in the 20th Annual Sunset Invitational on Nov. 11.

Junior Abel Hernandez won the Ringside 2006 World Boxing Championship for the middleweight class in August.

Senior Trevor Neal was one of only 137 students stateside to receive a rating of '1' (outstanding) during the Texas State Solo & Ensemble Competition in Austin.

in front of bass Wallace Bradford.

Betty Brewer Olive ('45) recalls the Bison Theater (later the Vogue), as well as the Sunset, Texas, Rosewin, Midway and Astor. She loved swimming and dancing at Kidd Springs, and the great malts at the Boundry Drug Store.

Glenn Wamble ('47) looks back on his senior year when he was assistant manager of the coffee shop and pool lifeguard at the original Belmont Hotel. Now he's a tour guide and recently visited the newly-renovated Belmont, and found it quite impressive. NOTE: A new restaurant adjacent to the Belmont will open in the spring.

& Alumni Voices...

Carolyn Scott ('58) wrote: "I am especially impressed with the grants given to the school and the clubs and organizations. Thanks for the great job..."

Ora Mae Sellers Irby ('48) remembers study hall teachers Miss Ware and Miss Shackelford, and seems to recall that one of them had purple hair! She has fond memories of a capella choir where she stood
